

Ice Age

Fritz Bleichert

Faith in the Tango can move icebergs and the artists Vera Eisberg (shown four stations later) and Fritz Bleichert can make icebergs melt with the power of their imagination and colors. Fantasy is something that many people cannot really grasp. The coldest spot in the universe is the Bose-Einstein-condensate. The coldest spot in the Ortenau area is the Tango factory. Here we produce minus 120 degrees Celsius. The Ortenau artist Fritz Bleichert created his woodcut “Ice Age” in this environment, because he could imagine the next cold period beyond the looming global warming, and beyond the end of his own nose. Abstractly of course, and so it is the lower it is, the more Huber it has. As the second gallery „concrete art” clearly shows, everything begins in the imagination.

*) The Artist www.f-bleichert.de can also melt the heart of the proudest woman - and even aluminum. In his function as a universal genius, he can transform intricate music into forms and colors. This is something you have to see.

Aunt Paula lies in bed and eats tomatoes

Fritz Bleichert

When Helmut Dold's Badish Dixie Quartet (www.helmut-dold.de) made Offenburg's Vincentiusgarten swing to „Aunt Paula ...”, the artist and graphic designer drew, while standing, a picture with the same name in three-and-a-half minutes. A pace only Picasso could keep up with.
